Census participation termed 'vital'

By JOHN CURRY
Post Staff Writer

Getting all of the population counted in the coming national census and gaining a big voice for small business were the subjects of the two speakers at Thursday's monthly Mission Merchants Association luncheon in Daly City.

Don Fleming, director of the city Planning and Community Development Department and coordinator of the census in the city, told the group he expected Daly City's population to be over 90,000, well up from the 71,300 count of the 1970 census.

It is suspected by many officials that the 1970 Daly City census may have been off by 2,000 or more because of failures to reply to the mail census questionnaires.

A full count of the population as of April 1 is vital to local interests, Fleming emphasized, because it could mean $62 a person in federal and state subventions, or an extra $100,000 a year to Daly City for many community programs.

"There is a desperate need for employees at the moment to follow up on unreturned questionnaires and on errors," Fleming said, asking the merchants to refer to his office or the Census Bureau for information anyone they know who may need part-time work .

There is a need for 1,566 enumerators in San Mateo County, but only 76 are on the payroll now, he said.

Enumerators will be paid $3.50 an hour and must be 18 years old or over, Fleming said, noting that this job might be good for senior citizens and retired people to pick up a little extra money.

Other agencies participating in the search for help include the San Mateo County Transit District, which has agreed to post help-wanted signs in its buses.

Among the questions to be mailed to all households on either a seven-question short form, to five out of six, or a longer 12-question form to the remainder, are queries about the number, sex, age, economic status and national origin of the residents.

Such information as income status can be important to the city in its federal Revenue Sharing allocations, which are based on income and population, and block grants for neighborhood projects, based on income, population and housing stock, Fleming pointed out.

Some other federal programs include such things as the gasoline tax allocation, calculated solely on population, he said.

The information also "becomes a very important planning tool for the city and an important tool for the merchants, who can use it to aim their advertising and market strategy," Fleming went on.

All census information is confidential, he said, which means that any illegal aliens need not fear police or immigration authorities using it. The city will receive only numerical information, he said.

Dale Osmond, general manager of the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce, the other speaker, outlined the progress of the new national Small Business Task Force, which he said is making "a very, very large swell across the United States."

The SBTF had over 11,000 members in California at the end of 1979. "We've let organized labor run all over us. Why? Because they're organized. Now, small business is speaking with one voice across the nation," Osmond stated.

The need for a cohesive unit to speak for small business is plain, because "Government, especially the federal government, my friend is not a friend of small business."

A small but important beginning of muscle-flexing has been made in California by small business, with sponsorship of a bill in the Legislature that would allow employers withholding less than $250 a month for paychecks for tax purposes to file withholding statements quarterly instead of monthly.

The bill got through the legislature, only to have Governor Brown veto it, Osmond recalled, but now the bill is back, has passed the Assembly and was to have been up for a vote by the State Senate Thursday.

Osmond also told the merchants that a new city telephone directory, new city map and business guide will be ready for distribution in a few weeks.

FIGHTING THE SMELL

Labor dispute halts service

A sudden labor dispute shut down Daly City Scavenger Co. garbage pick up operations Monday afternoon and resolution was not in sight Tuesday.

Three men, the crew of one truck, suspended for five days by Scavenger Co. President Al Seremi Friday, set up a picket line at the Scavenger yard on Edgeworth Avenue at about noon Monday, and the other 31 employees, members of Sanitary Truck Drivers and Helpers Union Local 350, honored it.

Seremi said Tuesday a union official had told him to put the three men back on the job by Tuesday morning, but he refused. Seremi said terms of his contract with the union allowed him to hand out the suspensions.

No one at the union office in San Francisco was available for comment by press time.

Seremi said he isn't sure the shutdown is sanctioned by the union, but that he would consult with his attorney Tuesday.

The picket line was there at 5 a.m. Tuesday, the normal Scavenger starting time, with all the employees joining it, rather than going to work, Seremi said.

"I'm in the fog about why this happened," he said. He added that he had no warning of impending labor troubles before the three men began picketing Monday.

The suspensions resulted after the three men had "overpacked" their truck with too much garbage, causing an estimed $7,000 to $8,000 damage to it, Seremi said.

In the meantime, Daly City Deputy City Manager Raymond Fetsinger was warning residents and businesses served by the scavengers to keep their garbage not to leave it out at its normal pickup points.

This is the firm's first labor dispute the firm since a strike in 1975.

Union change gains impetus

A movement to drop the California Nurses Association and replace it with a new AFL-CIO union as the official bargaining unit at the seven Affiliated Hospitals, which includes Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, has gained enough momentum to cause an election to be set for June 3 and 4.

A National Labor Relations Board hearing officer set the election Monday after a one-day hearing in San Francisco. The approximately 1,900 registered nurses in the seven hospitals will choose between their present CNA unit and the new California Union of Healthcare Professionals Local 723, affiliated with the Service Employees International Union AFL-CIO.

The Monday hearing was short by NLRB standards in matters like this because attorneys for the three parties involved, the CNA, CUHP and Affiliated Hospitals, stipulated quickly to who should vote, in light of an earlier case.

Basically it will be the registered nursing staffs at the hospitals who will vote, but the issue likely will be the makeup of future membership. The CNA has restricted its membership to registered nurses. The CUHP wants to include all health care workers in the hospitals, including lab technologists, registered nurses, pharmacists, physical therapists, psychologists, dietetians, inhalation therapists, speech therapists and social workers.

Many of these now are represented by SEIU Local 250, which the CUHP claims has never had the proper support from CNA in its dealings with hospital managements.

Water to golf courses

Reclamation plan costs cut

A project almost ready to go to bid this month to pump reclaimed water to nearby golf courses may not cost the North San Mateo County Sanitation District as much as it thought, the district Board of Directors was told Monday before approving it.

The matter came up in a request from Resources Engineering and Management, the district's engineering consulting firm, for $28,000 more than the $71,166 the 1978 contract called for because of some re-design of the delivery system.

The extra fee would be more than made up by cutting the original construction cost of $816,000 by some $305,000, General Manager Peter M Archuleta pointed out.

Consulting Engineer Robert Eppler said the actual saving, with inflation figured in would, be about $140,000 over the initial estimate. This is because the plan, to feed reclaimed water to the nearby Olympic Golf and Country Club and the San Francisco Golf and Country Club, now includes only one large storage tank instead of two, to serve the Olympic Club, while the San Francisco club would be served by direct pumping from the Westlake treatment plant, at a cost saving in both construction and energy, Eppler said.

The two-tank plan would have required large hillside cuts plus another land cut for a line to the San Francisco club, which now could go above ground through an easement with only a few fences and trees to be moved, Eppler asserted.

The project construction should take a year, he went on. This is phase one of a two-stage project that also will have the district selling reclaimed water to some of the cemeteries in Colma.

The demand could be up to a million gallons a day at the golf courses during the summer, Eppler said.

Contracts for sales of water are to be negotiated annually, taking the district's costs into consideration, Archuleta said in answer to a question. It is expected also that the use of the reclaimed wastewater for irrigation of the golf links will reduce the drain on the underground wells at the golf courses, which draw from the same aquafir that supplies part of Daly City's water.

In other business the board:

Okayed an amended agreement with REM, for $77,528 to $92,615, depending on whether the state water quality control agency will allow the district to inspect the wastewater transmission construction itself, at a cost saving of about $7,000, or have REM do it.

JESD trustees lauded

Two recently-retired Daly City-Colma school board trustees were honored by the community and legislators last Thursday night.

Beverly K. Forrester and Alvin Schwarzbach, who chose not to seek additional terms to the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees, received an array of commendations, and both humorous and serious gifts at a dinner held at Nick's Rockaway restaurant in Pacifica.

State Assemblyman Louis J. Papan (D., Millbrae), a former Daly City resident and city councilman, presented the pair with joint Senate-Assembly resolutions.

Chairman of the JESD board, David Parker, made a similar presentation on behalf of the two former trustees' colleagues, as did George Robinson of the Jefferson Union High School District.

District to collect

Since it refunded some $422,000 in mistaken sewer service overcharges a year ago, the North San Mateo County Sanitation District Board of Directors decided Monday that turnabout was fair play, and voted to collect some of undercharges for 1979 sewer services.

There's a twist this time, however. Of the 1,884 customers who weren't billed enough, the district will go after only the 430 multi-family, commercial and industrial customers, which the district staff figured would be the easiest to find and collect from.

It worked out this way, General Manager Peter M. Archuleta explained:

The new district computer last year undercharged the 1,884 customers by a total of $94,850.45, 1,454 of those, or 68 percent, being single family residential users and the rest in the other categories.

The residential users are $32,248.52 in arrears, while the multi-family, commercial and industrial customers owe $63,701.48. Of the residentials, the amount due is as little as $1 and only three are over $100. Of the others, one owes nearly $15,000, seven over $1,000 and 22 others $500 or more.

Trying to collect the single-family residentials, based on the district's experience with refunds last year, wouldn't be worth the cost, but the revenue from the other categories would just about pay back the district the $64,000 it cost to process and mail the refunds last year.

Archuleta said the district still is holding some refund checks from last year for former homeowners who can't be located. He suggested the same might happen with the undercharge billings, since residential property changes hands so frequently, with the added possibility of angry feedback from the current property owners who wouldn't feel responsible for it.

Board President Victor G. Kyriakis wondered if there would be problems of the district being charged with discrimination. District Counsel James Morton said it wasn't a matter of forgiveness, but of economics. "My first feeling was that you shouldn't forgive any costs. But to so so in this case would cost you as much as you would recover."

Director John M. Ward said he also had misgivings on a first reading of Archuleta's recommendations, but I can see it.

Cost for the evening of fun and relaxation will be $7 per person. That price includes the dinner, dancing and two free drinks! Call Mrs. Murphy for more information or to reserve your table.

The business of investing is vital to all of us in these days of financial uncertainty so members of the Daly City chapter of AARP won't want to miss Monday's AARP meeting.

Louise E. Bartolini, senior account executive for the Merrill Lynch organization, will be the guest speaker at the meeting which begins at 10:30 a.m. in the Westlake Community Center, 145 Lake Merced Blvd.

It's 'National Nutrition Month'

Perspective

By ARVILLE FINACOM

There's a rather trite truism that goes, "We are what we eat." It's quoted eloquently by modern nutritionists as an argument for "proper" diet.

One could discuss the term "proper" at great length; however, it is difficult to disagree with the basic premise. What we eat certainly influences how we feel and look as well as how our bodies behave.

But it's not so simple as nutritionists might have us believe to couple misunderstanding of the statement with daily practice. No doubt we'll all be hearing much about the topic in the next few weeks for March is officially "National Nutrition Month." Coming hard on the heels of February, designated annually as "American Hearth Month," the possibility for a look at relationships among hearts, health and dietary habits is too great to ignore.

First, a few thoughts about deep rooted, almost psychologically subliminal eating habits, a look at the "why" of eating, if you will. If one consideres the feeding practices of various creatures, we find ones, such as deer, who are strictly herbivores. Green plant protein makes up the entire diet. Marine mammals, dolphins for example, subsist on fish.

Deer and dolphin eat daily. Some mammals, members of the cat family especially, kill and consume large prey once every few days. A few animals, other than man, are omnivores. They eat anything. Bears fall neatly into this category. They eat plant material such as fruits and berries, as well as animal protein, usually in the form of fish. The great apes, chimpanzees, gorillas and orangutans are also omnivores, favoring a diet of plant shoots, fruits and grains with an occasional small animal for variety.

Suspend judgment for the moment and travel back in imagination some five million years for a look at earth's "first affluent society." Richard E. Leakey, whose parents, Anthropologists Louis and Mary Leakey, pushed back the frontier of our knowledge of man's prehistory with their explorations in Africa's Olduvai Gorge, has published a most interesting theory concerning early man's diet demands and practices in his current best seller, "People of the Lake: Mankind and Its Beginnings."

In Leakey's view, evolving humans structured themselves as a "gathering" society. Early men and women ate plants in great quantities and some small animals, lake shore crustaceans, birds' eggs, insects such as termites and ants as well as insect larvae. Humans classified as "aboriginal" follow the same practices today. Man's first taste of meat may have come as he scavenged the remains of a kill left by lions or decided to sample the fresh flesh of a naturally fallen mammal as he saw packs of hyenas and jackals do. Only much later, after he acquired a taste for meat, did man begin to hunt and kill game for food.

Once humans embarked on a mixed diet, they found "meat stayed with them longer." Energy inducing rituals evolved centering around the setting aside of protein rich portions, "choice morsels," for the social leaders. Affluence, defined by Leakey as "the opportunity for leisure," came, too. With cooperative efforts, early men and women could gather and store as well as hunt and share sufficient food for a mixed age group. There was time to play, to develop complex social rituals and, especially, to think.

Leakey relates development of man's ability to reason directly with this development of structured food gathering techniques. He also implies the beginning of a society where food became a status symbol. And here is where we leap to the present. In many ways, food continues as a symbol of "having arrived."

The Roman banquets of 2,000 years ago are little different from today's cocktail parties where food and drink is consumed not for sustenance but for social reasons. The confections and pastries of modern society carry little nutritional value; but, being able to "afford" dessert after every meal, carries much psychological weight.

Many "fast" and "convenience" foods have much of their nutritional worth destroyed through excessive preparation and packaging. But the ability to "pay for that special preparation" satisfies a deeper socially oriented desire for acceptance than eating simply to maintain health and well being does. The use of condiments such as sugar, salt and spices, also implies wealth and status. Modern Americans, caught up in sugar and salt habits which lead them to consume 100 pounds of the one and 15 pounds of the other annually, are also encouraged to swallow 24 pounds of fat in the same 12-month period.

Eating, too, is a highly social function. The willingness to eat food prepared by others has roots in the very early trust-building social exercise of "breaking bread" together. Ritualized beyond the point of conscious memory, the ceremony finds Americans, hungry or not, drinking and eating together at all hours of the day or night.

My personal belief, shared, incidentally, by nutritionists working with the American Heart Association, is that humans have to be helped to understand their dietary habits before they will ever change them. I know there is much argument about such change, but researchers have discovered certain facts about diet, general health and performance, which seem applicable to most people.

In a continuing effort to educate school children at a time in their lives when future diet patterns can be influenced most readily, the American Heart Association presents in-school programs.

During February, Cathy Hyman and Pat Kolbe, interns working with the nutrition education program of the local San Mateo County Chapter of the American Heart Association, presented a puppet show to primary students and a fancifully titled film, "The Real Talking, Singing, Action Movie About Nutrition," to upper graders at Millbrae's Spring Valley and Green Hills Schools.

According to Heart Association nutritionist Ann Snyder, Hyman and Kolbe are in the fifth year University of California degree program in Dietetics which involves them in such intern work in nutrition education under the direction of a registered dietician. Upon successful completion of the course year, they will take a test to qualify them as registered dieticians.

Although the presentation is patently programmed — "Food becomes your blood and bone, your brains and brawn" — it is fresh in that the personalities of the presentors do overlay the material. As energy-filled, trim-bodied, dynamic examples of belief in what they teach, Hyman and Kolbe accent the message most appropriately. They also were able to answer students questions and concerns in a relaxed manner.

CARING ADULTS:

are needed to provide temporary care for children who are without families. The San Mateo County Shelter Care Program needs families to help with local children while long term resources are identified. A per diem allowance is provided.

By SAMUEL CHANDLER

What about Afghanistan?

An ancient song that is still heard in Afghanistan holds that it is "better to come home stained with blood than safe and sound as a coward." Afghanistan has been called the land of the fighting tribesmen and the country that judges manhood by skill in the saddle and with the sword.

Afghanistan stretches from the parched Desert of Death in the south to the snow-clogged trails in the northern Pamirs Mountains. It is a land of turbulent tribes that often fight each other as they move in caravans. Of its people Mohammed Zahir Shah said, "The afghan with his natural spirit of independence is a difficult man to command but a pleasure to lead."

Afghanistan is the ancient land of Turkistan, stretching from the great Hindu Kush range of the mighty Himalaya Mountains to farmlands and orchards in the south.

"Only a people of iron and leather could survive in such a rugged country," wrote Thomas J. Abercrombie of the National Georgraphic magazine.

Since time began the people of Afghanistan have faced conquerors, every bit as cold as the Russians, who have sought to use the land to connect the great empires of the East and those of the West. Although some of them have stamped their sovereignty on the land, few, if any, have subdued the tribesmen.

In the year 330 BC Alexander the Great marched through Afghanistan until he reached the Indus River; then he retraced his steps to be with the more civilized people of Persia. After Alexander a Grecian empire ruled the land with cruel efficiency, but finally fell, being unable to stave off invasions of tribal people from the mountains of the North.

For centuries the armies of various Islamic princes battled for the land of the Afghans, but history shows they were less successful than the missionaries they brought with them to convert the tribesmen.

In 1219 AD Genghis Khan and his Mongol hordes invaded the mountains and valleys and left a trail of blood behind them as they moved back to Asia, leaving a vassal state to try to rule the land. The famous Tamerlane fared no better before the fighting men of leather and iron. Neither did the British, who used both war and diplomacy to make Afghanistan part of the famed British Empire.

In 1709 the Afghan nation emerged and lasted until it fell in a vain attempt to supplant ancient customs with the mores of the Western world. Since 1919 one revolution has followed another. The country has been a monarchy, a republic, a communist state, but, in reality, its people have remained loyal to their tribal leaders.

One of the best sources of information about Afghanistan is a publication that comes from the United States Government Printing Office ("Area Handbook for Afghanistan," GPO, 1973). In producing this volume as part of a series of area handbooks, the Government Printing Office is unable to keep up with the ever-changing complexion of the Afghan government. Nevertheless, the handbook is filled with pages of information that will appeal to a reader who wants to follow the news of the Russian invasion of Afghhanistan.

For a taste of the atmosphere of Afghanistan, James Michhener's novel "Caravans," (Random $5.95) is excellent. Technically it is the story of an American girl who flees the United States during the Vietnam War period and of the diplomat who is detailed to bring her back. Actually it is a travelogue with camel trains, tribal wars and riots. "Caravans" is fun to read.

Gavin Hambly's "Central Asia" (Delacorte, $6) is a survey of the history of the area of Asia that stretches over Afghanistan. It is well written to be part of a distinguished series that lead Americans to discover countries that are coming into world view.

LEARNING ABOUT SCIENCE

Third graders at George Washington School, Daly City, learned all about science as a recent class project. Animal Forum

By DR. DAVID R. BARNETT

QUESTION: I read recently that the American Animal Hospital Association polled their members in the United States and Canada to determine what animals were most beloved by veterinarians themselves. I think the result of that poll would be interesting to your readers. M. C.

ANSWER: Among the polled veterinarians, dogs proved to be the most popular pets followed by cats.

According to Dr. R. L. Collinson, Los Altos, and spokesman for the AAHA, here's how the top breeds rated among veterinarians — German Shepherds were first with poodles in second place.

Tied for third place were Black Labradors and Golden Retrievers.

These choices seem to conform with pet owners selections in 1978 which showed the most popular breeds to be: 1. Poodles 2. Doberman Pinschers 3. German Shepherds 4 Cocker Spaniels 5. Labrador Retrievers 6. Beagles 7. 7. Golden Retrievers 8. Dachshunds 9. Miniature Schnauzers 10. Irish Setters.

With a parade of animals constantly passing through their lives, veterinarians seem to be more susceptible to pet attachments than the rest of us. American veterinarians reported that at one time or another they owned as many as 3.5 dogs and 2.8 cats. Other animals owned by veterinarians include fish, birds, horses, hamsters, rabbits and one llama. The favorite breed of cat, by the way, is the domestic short hair, followed by the Siamese.

QUESTION: As often as I can, I take my dog, Alfie, out to the countryside and turn him loose. He goes wild in the underbrush and starts rolling around and acting like a clown. I have to forcibly remove him from the area. It must be some instinctive thing that he's doing, because when we get home he's okay. Can this hurt him? J. H.

ANSWER: Probably not. If he rolls in poison oak he might get some minor problems, but dogs aren't affected nearly as seriously as humans are. He could pass the poison oak on to you when you pet him. Actually it just sounds like he is having fun getting out in the country and I wouldn't deprive him of that.

LANDING TEAM

Marine Lance Cpl. Adlai B. Aldana, son of Augusto A. Aldana and Cleofe B. Bulos both of 691 Hanover St., Daly City, recently participted in Battalion Landing Team Exercise 1-80.

He is a member of Battalion Landing Team 1/9, 3rd Marine Division, based on Okinawa.

The seven-day exercise was conducted along the west coast of Luzon in the Philippines. It provided training in the planning, combined coordination and execution of amphibious landing techniques and operations ashore. More than 4,000 U.S. sailors and Marines participated, along with elements of the U.S. 13th Air Force and the Philippine Navy.

A 1975 graduate of Mission High School, San Francisco, Aldana joined the Marine Corps in May 1976.

POLICE COMMENDATION

Jefferson students to backpack

Sixty Jefferson Union High School District juniors and seniors will leave March 18 for a rugged backpacking expedition in the Ventena Wilderness, 200 miles south of here.

These students are from the Community Environmental Education Program, and will be transported by a Greyhound bus provided by the U.S. Army to Ft. Hunter Liggett, a survival training center, just east of the Ventena Wilderness.

The Community Environmental Education Program was created at Jefferson High School in 1967 by teacher Reno Taini, an avid mountain climber, outdoor guide, and teacher-educator currently working on a doctorate degree in experiential education. Taini believes the emphasis on American education is too limited by false fears of how much it costs and proposes a crisp "Forward-to-the-basics" approach.

"Sure," he says, "academic knowledge is very important, but it's got to be supplemented by experience." Taini believes students need the chance to discover what they can do for themselves — how to bring initiative, perseverance, resourcefulness and imagination to bear on any problem.

This CEEP wilderness skills course will place the students into unavoidable, increasingly difficult situations in which they must call upon those qualities that are truly adult. The students will be moving over rough terrain most of the time. They will be oriented to the surroundings and get intense experience in backpacking, setting up camp, cooking in the open, personal hygiene away from modern conveniences, in map and compass reading, fire prevention, rock climbing and rappeling, rope bridge traversing and first aid. They will be exposed to the history of the Army fort, a major tank training center, and Mission San Antonio de Padua, the only California mission continuously operated by Fr. Junipero Serra's order, the Franciscan Order of Friars Minor.

The program has existed for mobe than 10 years on only $300 per semester. The students earn the rest and exchange services for use of equipment from various other agencies and organizations. "Prop. 13 hasn't affected us negatively — people just notice us more now, and smile as we do our projects throughout the Bay Area," states Taini. "It's our mission now to be a living example of creative educaitonal programming."

Today, the environmental education program operates at both Jefferson and Serramonte high schools with students from throughout the Jefferson high district. With Taini at Jefferson and Abe Evanich at Serramonte, the program is designed to give high school juniors and seniors experience in new environments, both urban and wild. They take field trips, do volunteer jobs and special community service work and explore different fields of work.

The wilderness course is not easy — it's not meant to be "Simply," Taini states, "it's a proven vehicle for personal and social growth, and full of immediate physical challenges that impels young people to quickly realize the need for trust, group cooperation, and communication the elements basic to being a solid citizen."

PICK A WINNER

Taxes topic of meet

Where does your tax money go? What does the state pay for? What about the cities and counties? Which services are each level of government responsible for? Who decides who will provide services and who will pay for them?

These questions will be discussed at the next meeting of the North San Mateo County League of Women Voters as part of a state study on local and state government relationships.

Date for these sessions, which are free and open to the public, is March 11. Daytime session is 9:30-11:30 at the home of Pat Avanessian, 3215 Dublin Drive, South San Francisco.

Jean Battani's home, 410 Markham Ave., San Bruno, is the site for the 7:30-9:30 evening meeting. For details or if a babysitter is needed, call the League at 952-2981.

'AN IRISH FLING'

The Westlake Catholic Women and Men will hold the annual St. Patrick's Day Dinner Dance, "An Irish Fling," in Our Lady of Mercy Parish Hall, March 14. Chairing the event are Mike Cooney, right, and Mrs. Joseph Vollert. Mrs. Francine Ahern will be decorating and Mrs. Eleanor Murphy will be doing reservations. The evening will begin with a cocktail hour from 7-8 with dinner being served at 8 and dancing from 9 until 1 to the music of The Pat Gibney Band. Cost of $7 per person includes a Corn Beef and Cabbage dinner and two drinks. For reservations, call Mrs. Murphy, 755-7513.

Emissions you can't see are the ones that really hurt.

Maybe your car's the last word in economy. But if you're driving it to work every day, the tiniest puddle jumper will put a limousine-sized dent in your budget. Take the bus during the week, and you'll have a tankful for those weekend fun trips. Call our Information Specialists. They'll help you plan your ride.

THE DIET CORNER

By ELISE GENDAR

What's the problem . . . You've been dieting and dieting and still nothing helps. Really?

The best place to do a fast check-up on the state of your diet is at the point where you unload your supermarket cart.

How does it stack up on vegetables? Did you shop for enough vegetables to hold you through the week?

That means canned, fresh, frozen — at least a pound of green peppers, a bunch of celery, a bunch or two of radishes, lettuce and other hearty substantial dinner vegetables like peas, carrots, beets, squash, beans and tomatoes.

How about the lighter vegetables like summer squash, zucchini, broccoli, cauliflower, bean sprouts, mushrooms, sauerkraut and cabbage?

Did you buy enough to supply one for lunch and one for dinner daily? You should! The prospect of unlimited amounts of anything fills the dieting stomach with glee. Hot or cold, at any time of the day, befriend the vegetable.

Also, three fruits a day are a must. There's always a seasonal fruit mounded up to tempt you. Succumb and let a little luxury into your life by indulging in the whim for an out-of-season strawberry or a perfect fresh pineapple. (I set a pineapple on a silver platter on my dining room server while it ripens, it's the symbol of hospitality. When the aroma fills the room, I know it's time to serve it. Meanwhile, I enjoy its handsome appearance.) Pamper your palate with one expensive fruit per week.

As for main meals, concentrate on chicken. It's still one of the best-priced proteins around. Serve it in the Oriental spirit that's so chic. Try veal as another good diet protein.

Now that you have some idea about what should be in your basket, what are you going to include out? All snack foods — OUT! All cookies and cakes — OUT! You won't be tempted by "just a crumb." All candy — OUT! Think of the dental bills!

CHINESE CHICKEN BREASTS

4 tbsp. soy sauce
¼ c. ketchup (see below)
¼ c. water
2 tbsp. vinegar
1 medium onion, diced
2 pkts. artificial sweetener
Dash garlic salt
Dash seasoned salt
2 or 3 chicken breasts (depending on size)

Mix all ingredients except chicken. Remove skin from breasts and cut in half. Place, meaty side up, in baking dish. Pour sauce over chicken. Bake about 1½ hours at 350 degrees or until done, basting occasionally.

Ketchup: Simmer 48-oz. can tomato juice with artificial sweetener, worcestershire sauce, dash garlic or onion salt. Simmer until thick or of consistency of regular ketchup.

When shopping remember, if it isn't in the house it isn't available; if it isn't available, you can't eat it; if you can't eat it, it won't make you fat.

Have any suggestions for subjects you'd like discussed in this column? Write to me at The Diet Workshop, 2333 Lafayal St., San Francisco 94116.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

Often the most nostalgic meals are the most enjoyable. We find a favorite food from childhood, or there's a fragrance from the kitchen that brings back pleasant memories. Perhaps it's something that you "just love." And very often these are foods that offer sound, balanced nutrition.

Savory Salmon Patties with Dilled Cream Pea Sauce is an old fashioned supper idea that rates tops in flavor. For the economy-minded, this nutritious entree is like to the budget as well, stretching a 15½ ounce can of salmon to make six servings. Accompany with hearty home-style fried potatoes and a crisp green salad.

SALMON PATTIES WITH DILLED CREAM PEA SAUCE

1 can (15½ ounce) salmon
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
½ cup chopped green onions
2 beaten eggs
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons cooking oil

Drain and flake the salmon, reserving liquid. Combine salmon with the one cup bread crumbs and half cup green onions. Stir in the two beaten eggs, and one tablespoon lemon juice and reserved salmon liquid. Form into six patties. Fry patties in the two tablespoons oil over medium heat until lightly browned on both sides. Serve hot with sauce. Makes six patties.

DILLED CREAM PEA SAUCE

1 package (10 ounce) frozen peas
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dill weed
1½ cups milk

Cook peas according to package directions; drain. In another saucepan, melt two tablespoons butter. Blend in the two tablespoons flour, half teaspoon salt and fourth teaspoon dill weed. Gradually stir in the cup and half of milk. Cook over low heat; stir until thickened. Add peas to sauce; heat thoroughly.

Makes 2½ cups sauce.

Open house at Mary's Help

Do you occasionally drink heavily after a disappointment, a quarrel, or when the boss gives you a hard time?

When you have trouble or feel under pressure, do you always drink more heavily than usual?

Have you noticed that you are able to handle more liquor than you did when you were first drinking?

If your answer is yes to any or all of these questions, it may indicate that you have some of the symptoms of alcoholism. Perhaps the same questions applied to a family member or friend might bring about affirmative responses.

These are just a few of the areas which the trained alcoholism therapist at Mary's Help Hospital's CareUnit might begin to explore in establishing whether or not a person has a drinking problem.

CareUnit is an intensive medical program which uses a team approach to the care and treatment of patients who suffer from the disease of alcoholism.

CareUnit is a hospital-based program providing a broad range of alcoholism treatment services, including medical, psychological, educational and counseling components. The average inpatient program is three to four weeks.

The Regent

By ROBIN MOELLER

The Serramonte High School yearbook has gone down in price. For those who have already bought a yearbook, refunds could be applied for last week. The yearbooks now cost $7.

The Gong Show originally scheduled for last Friday was postponed. Last Thursday there was a meeting for all students who were interested in performing or participating in any way.

The sophomores at Serramonte had to take a state mandated math test last Tuesday. Last week was also the last day for the juniors who didn't take the Hart Bill Test as freshmen and did not take the makeup test of Feb. 5 or 6. Students must pass the test in order to graduate.

The Model United Nations left for a convention last Thursday in Berkeley. Debates were at the U.C. campus. Serramonte students who attended included Maria Bautista, Leslie McNeil, Liz McNeil, Alex Yee, Glenn Navor, Greg Keh and Keith Linstrom.

California Junior State will have its convention June 12, the day of graduation, in Sacramento.

Grad Night has been scheduled for June 13, the day after graduation. It will be at Magic Mountain this year.

There was a CSF meeting last Wednesday for all students interested in joining for the spring semester. Mr. Shurgin is the club advisor.

Membership qualification usually is determined by the previous semester's grades. However, this year there wren't any fall semester grades, due to the strike. CSF is supposed to officially allow students into the club based on last quarter's grades, provided they maintain high marks this semester. Then, the third quarter grades will count again for spring membership next year.

To get into CSF one needs to satisfy certain grade requirements. Grades in up to five subjects can be used to qualify for membership. Any semester grade of D or F automatically debars membership. The grades can be taken only from certain courses.

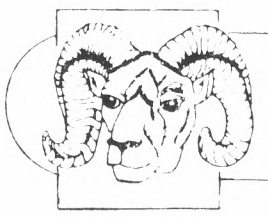
Last week was the last week to sign up for the baseball team.

Student body card and yearbook pictures for 1980-81 will be taken March 19 during the PE classes. Next year's sophomores, juniors and seniors should have them taken. Pictures are taken free, but if a student wishes to buy some he should bring in money March 19.

Serramonte students have until Friday to complete makeups on English phasing tests. Students should check with their English teachers and if they haven't taken the test, report to the english Resource Center. If a student doesn't take the test he will be placed in the same English class next year.

From Feb. 27 until March 7, the journalism class will take personal ads for the Serramonte school paper. The cost depends on the length of the ad.

On March 12 and 13, eighth graders will be coming to Serramonte. Members of the Executive Board will be leading the junior-high students around campus.



Ram-blings

By TERI CINTI

Representatives of the March of Dimes will visit Westmoor High School today, speaking to students during their PE periods in Westmoor's Little Theater. The March of Dimes hopes to promote and gain members for its upcoming walk-a-thon.

Westmoor's music band recently had its annual music marathon. All members of the band participated in this event by playing their instruments from 4 p.m. Feb. 23 until noon the following day, for 20 hours.

Families and friends of the band sponsored the event by pledging money for every hour the students played. A thousand dollars raised by the marathon will pay for the students' trip to the Reno Jazz Festival this year.

"Go Jump In The Lake," Westmoor's production of the children's play by Elaine Berman, will be performed in the Little Theater March 6 during lunch periods.

The play also will be taken on the road to neighboring elementary schools. Children who missed the earlier performances of the play Feb. 29 will have a second chance to see it.

The play is the story of a young boy named Bernard, played by Mike Montes, who learns to talk instead his head when he's angry instead of fighting. Helping him in his discovery, among other things, is a skunk who can't produce a correct skunk smell and a dragon who can't breathe fire.

"Go Jump In The Lake" is an elaborate children's fantasy that is entertaining and an excellent introduction to the theater for children.

Westmoor's tennis team will meet Serramonte March 6 at Serramonte.

On March 10, Westmoor will be host to a golf tournament with El Camino High School. Also on that same day, Westmoor's golfers will travel to Jefferson High.

Jefferson humiliates CCS foe

Rodgers was a starter on the 1977-78 team that got as far as the final week before being derailed by Fremont.

Rodgers and the other returning starters from that team, guard Ernie Dupree and frontliner Ken Mackey, are going to get another shot at Fremont in this year's tournament, next Wednesday night at 7:30 at Independence High in San Jose. (Fremont beat Salinas 81-62 Friday night.)

Jefferson, 2-0 in the tourney so far, advanced by convincingly, if somewhat belatedly, outclassing Silver Creek 55-39 Friday night at Skyline College.

"Richard really wants this one," said Jeff Coach Bud Bresnahan. "This is the last basketball season for him, period."

It's the last basketball season for Rodgers because he has a football scholarship to Cal, and he's going to put all his athletic energy into roaming the defensive backfield.

Rodgers and his Jeff teammates did some sterling defensive work in the third quarter Friday night, holding Silver Creek to a mere two points, erasing a two-point halftime deficit and breaking the game wide open. Jeff held a 36-25 lead after that third quarter and coasted home from there.

Silver Creek was the weaker team, but Jeff didn't play its best in the first half. The Indians were nails in their man-to-man defense; Silver Creek did a lot of standing around, looking for non-existent room to try one-on-one moves.

But offensively, Jeff was cold from the floor, shamefully cold from the free throw line, beaten on the boards and generally a bit slow to execute.

"I think we mostly played defense in the first half," said Rodgers, who, trading off with Dupree, held Silver Creek ace Ricky Lewis to 10 points. "We did play the good defense.

"In the second half we executed the offense better, and still played the good defense.

"It looked like maybe they weren't too used to playing against a man-to-man defense. I think they thought they were quicker than we were, because they spread out and tried to get the one-on-one moves, but that didn't work. We worked out tails off.

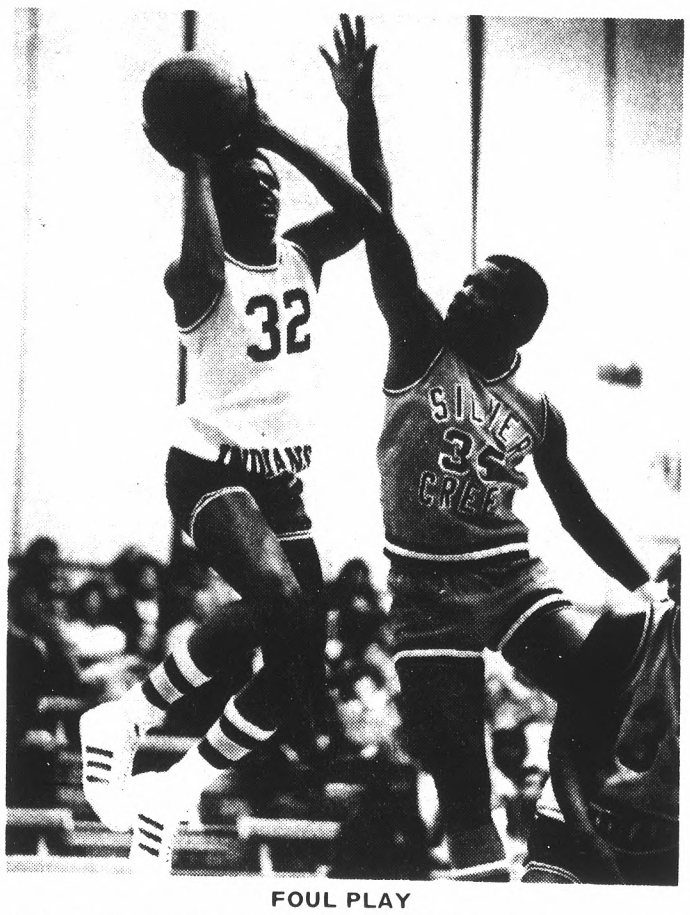
"And we started getting the boards in the second half. They weren't attacking the boards like I expected them to."

Silver Creek didn't work well against Jeff's man-to-man defense, and shot horrendously (18-for-53 from the floor), but for a while Jeff wasn't doing too much better.

"We see so many zones during the season that we really don't get a chance to use our man-to-man offense," said Bresnahan. "And it gets a little stale. We did some standing around, too; we could have been in trouble."

Ultimately the Indians began to get the boards, work inside, run the fast break and bury the Raiders. Dupree, Jeff's hottest outside shooter many nights, wasn't hitting, but his defense and rebounding (he led everyone with 11 boards) were exemplary.

"Ernie thinks he has to score to play well," said Bresnahan. "And that's not true. I've told them all: you don't have to score a lot individually if you play the other aspects of the game well, and that was the difference."



FOUL PLAY

Jefferson High's Zachary Alexander (32) is fouled as he goes up for a shot in game against Silver Creek High Friday. Jefferson beat Silver Creek 55-39 to advance in the CCS tournament.

It was that old cliche, a team effort. Ken Mackey, also cold in the early going, came on to grab a lot of boards and tally 10 second-half points. Freddie Burks and Zachary Alexander were tough inside.

"That could be a help this year," said Bresnahan. "Last year we depended so much on Darryl Jackson (now at Skyline), and we didn't play too well on that Tartan floor down at Independence.

"This year we don't depend that much on any one player.

"The floor is still going to be a problem. That kind of surface doesn't help quickness, and quickness is our strong suit. But I think we're going to get a chance to work out at McAteer (in San Francisco) before we go down to San Jose, and McAteer has a similar court surface."

Burks led Indian scorers with 15 points; Mackey had 14 and Dupree 12. Jeff outrebounded Silver Creek 40-33 after a slow start and, also after a slow start, hit a good floor percentage, 20-for-41.

Stan Arnold led Silver Creek with 20 points, but 10 came in the fourth quarter, when Jeff was sitting back in a zone defense, the pressure off. Silver Creek scrambled and threw up shots, but didn't get any good chances. For a time it seemed the Raiders might not break 30 points.

Lobo nine blanks Skyline

MONTEREY — Skyline College dropped a 7-0 decision to host Monterey Peninsula Friday in Coast Conference baseball action.

The Trojans never could get going after the Lobos took a 2-0 lead in the first inning.

Riordan crunches Rams

Several Riordan and Westmoor High players scrambled for a loose ball late in the third quarter. Suddenly the ball squirted from the grab-happy group into the waiting arms of Crusader Matt Ward, who laid the ball in for two.

Westmoor Coach Tony Giammona stared helplessly out at the floor, hands on waist.

Seconds later Riordan's Phil Kess sped the length of the court, only to momentarily allow the ball to lunge ahead of him. Diving into the sidelines, the husky guard aimlessly tossed the ball back to the court — into the arms of surprised Brett Crawford, who resoundingly slammed it home for a basket. Giammona sighed.

The Westmoor coach's reactions epitomized the Rams' frustration against the powerful (and sometimes opportune) West Catholic Athletic League co-champions Friday night at Kezar Pavilion. Riordan put on a convincing display for the Rams, winning 94-71 in a Central Coast Section tournament second-round clash.

"They are outstanding," Giammona said. "They just didn't miss too much — they must have shot 65 percent. We were getting one shot on offense and that was it. They were too tough. They were just too big for us, and they were shooting great."

"They're tough," Ram's leading scorer (29), Derrick Johnson said. "We just couldn't maintain ourselves whereas their big men outmuscled ours. They jumped at everything; we didn't jump at everything. That was a big factor in the game."

Westmoor did not appear to feel comfortable with the physical WCAL club. Riordan's revolving front line quartet of 6-7 Crawford, 6-7 Frank Avalos, 6-4 Ward and 6-5 Alex Lopez dwarfed the Rams forwards and center in both height and weight.

"They play a lot more physically than the NPL," Johnson said. "But we hung in there for a while."

The Rams remained close throughout the first half on the strength of Johnson's 14 points, trailing only 42-32. While the Rams' inability to effectively compete on the boards prevented a tighter margin, Westmoor was hurt by unsuccessful one-and-one free throw opportunities.

The teams exchanged baskets during much of the third quarter until the two hectic sequences, Ward's layin and Crawford's dunk, pushed the lead to 19 and the Rams' upset hopes out the door.

"They have the size, the shooters, they were simply too big for us," Giammona said. "I'm very, very happy with the year. We had a great year," he said. "I felt the kids did a good job. We stayed in there best we could tonight and we have nothing to be ashamed of — we had a great year."

An undefeated round-robin NPL slate, the league title, a 21-4 season record, a top county ranking — not even a loss to a probably CCS favorite can dim the lustre of a superb and surprising season for Westmoor.

Colts seeded 3rd in GGC playoffs

Canada College ended the Golden Gate Conference regular season on a positive note Friday night by trimming visiting San Jose City, 73-70.

Canada elevated its record to 11-7, good enough for fourth place in the GGC standings right behind Chabot, San Francisco and Laney.

Canada is now seeded third in the conference play-offs (undoing the second through fifth-place clubs), and was scheduled travel to East Bay rival Laney, either Monday or Tuesday, depending on the outcome of a GGC coaches' meeting.

Canada has already lost twice to the Eagles — a three-point decision early in the year at home, and a double-overtime thriller on the road — but the squad is confident of extending its post-season play.

"We are a much improved ball club since we last faced Laney," said forward Mark Alger, who noted that the team has now recorded four consecutive victories.

"There is a greater sense of unity and confidence found out there. San Jose was no slouch; we just rose to the occasion."

When sophomore Colts James Williams, Tod Sedlacek and Bobby Chilton combined to hit on a string of unanswered jump shots with less than three minutes remaining, they were finally able to put the game on ice. The Colts forged to a 64-60 lead, and never let up from thereafter.

"This was a very positive win for us. Not only does it put us in good shape going into the tournament, but beating a club such as SJCC is a great accomplishment," said Canada Coach Bub Bowling.

"We've been hurting lately with some crucial injuries, but our guys have been able to hang tough, and really compete. I am very proud of this team."

Sedlacek, who has regained his marvelous shooting a touch after a brief slump, finished the contest with a game-high 25 points. Sedlacek's deft outside shooting and devastating inside game has propelled him to second in the conference in scoring, with an average of nearly 20 points per contest.

Chilton, who gave Canada a big lift in the late going, ended up with 20 points, while Williams ended up with 12.

Locals in extra innings

Hillsdale High took an extra inning, Serra took two extra innings and Mills took three extra innings (without decision) in the opening of high school baseball Friday.

Hillsdale downed visiting South San Francisco 3-2 in eight innings, while Serra waited until the ninth inning to beat visiting Half Moon Bay 3-2 and Mills went ten innings before the umpires called a 0-0 tie with visiting Mission (S.F.).

In other games, Burlingame downed host Jefferson 6-2, El Camino defeated visiting Capuchino 6-1 and Oceana dropped a 5-4 decision to visiting Balboa.

The Crestmoor at Terra Nova baseball game was postponed because of wet grounds.

The Knights waited until the bottom of the eighth to score the winning run when Todd Welch walked, Chris Pavis singled him to second, and Welch scored on Ed Hassan's single.

Tom Kenny was the winning pitcher for Hillsdale, while Scott Hall doubled. For SSF, Chris Klarenback doubled.

Serra won its game over Half Moon Bay when Barry Bonds doubled, went to third on an overthrow and scored on Joe Kmak's single.

Marty Pletkin collected two hits for the Padres while Mike Givens had two hits for the Cougars.

Stan Wright, Tony Piazza and Jim Ryan combined to shut out Mission of San Francisco for ten innings.

The Vikings came close to scoring in the fourth inning when a passed ball got by the Mission catcher. The Mills runner was called out at the plate in a disputed call.

Ryan collected two hits, including a double for the Vikings.

Steve Johnson struck out eight batters in four innings to help Burlingame overcome Jefferson. Top hitters were Matt Hesselgren, who homered in the fourth inning, and Tim Knudsen, who tripled and smgled in the Panthers' win. Steve Bias and Andrew Leonard homered for El Camino in its win over Capuchino. Leonard also pitched the entire distance, striking out 12 and allowing just four hits. Leonard collected three hits.

Errors hurt the Bulldogs

College of San Mateo's rain-weary baseball team dropped a frustrating 10-8 decision to visiting Los Medanos Friday.

The Bulldogs led 6-1 entering the top of the fifth with one of their pitching aces, Brad Miller, on the mound. But then the roof fell in.

The Mustangs scored six runs on just four hits, helped immetisely by three Bulldog errors. Of the seven runs given up by Miller, only one was earned.

Los Medanos added three more runs in the sixth, taking a 10-6 lead. CSM countered with two in the bottom of the frame, but picked up goose eggs in the final three innings.

CSM (1-2) had a runner on in the ninth and its best hitter, Dan O'Regan, smoked one to centerfield but the LMC fielder hauled it in, sealing the win.

Los Medanos ..... 001 063 000— 10 12 6
San Mateo ..... 104 102 000— 8 6 6

M-A's Ellis vaults 15-4

Menlo-Atherton High downed visiting Serra in a non-leaguetrack meet Friday.

Greg Ellis topped the current state list in the pole vault at 15-4, just two inches short of his 1979 best. The 15-4 tops the 14-6 he vaulted a year ago to this date.

Glenn Miller ran 10.2 on a slow M-A track in the 100, while Robert Crumpler topped 14-6 in the pole vault to take second behind Ellis. Crumpler had three close misses at 15-0.

John Harris shot put 51-10 in his first effort of the season, while girls' discus thrower Sandra Middel had a 116-10 in her first ever competitive meet.

JUNIOR VARSITY: SERRA 91, MENLO-ATHERTON 44 (Soph Ricky Galvez from M-A went 13-6 in the pole vault)

FROSH: MENLO-ATHERTON 98, SERRA 27.

Colts rally, top Merced

Canada College avenged an earlier loss by downing visiting Merced 6-5 Friday in a non-conference game.

The Colts went ahead in the fourth inning when Kurt Jorgenson, Pete Whistler and Harold Reynolds all reached base safely before Neil Rockwell drove one run home with a sacrifice fly and Richard Scott followed with a two-run single.

Hockey saved the Olympics from boredom

Le Pacini

Throw out hockey and the Winter Olympics would be the most boring television show this side of Laverne and Shirley.

The last time the Winter Olympics thrilled me was 1960, when the United States won its last, upset gold in hockey. Even the exploits of Eric Heiden were no thrill to me.

Nothing against Heiden, who is a great athlete and a great competitor and who, in his own way, pulled off as miraculous a feat in winning his five gold medals as the hockey did in winning its one.

The difference is that Heiden was skating against a clock, while the hockey team was skating against other hockey teams. Head-to-head competition can get me away from a typewriter or a good book. Sports in which winners are determined by clocks or strictly on the interpretation of judges send me to the typewriter or a good book.

As incredible as were the feats of Heiden, how could he match for drama (even HE admitted he was more interested in the fortunes of the hockey team than in digesting his skating for the press) what the hockey team did: The youngest Olympic hockey team in U.S. history going against and beating supposedly the best hockey team every assembled at any level; the same Russian team which had virtually run them out of Madison Square Garden (10-3) just a month earlier; the same team which had handled just about the best the NHL had to offer.

As announcer Al Michaels so correctly commented, if a writer had gone to any Hollywood producer with a screenplay like that, he would have been thrown out of the joint.

Esoteric baseball question of the month:

Since Tom Lasorda is left-handed and Jim Lefebvre is a switch-hitter, does that mean that Lefebvre hit Lasorda with his right?

Perhaps more relevant, if one's interest leans toward sociology rather than baseball purity, has the Lefebvre Lasorda punch-out established a pattern of switch-hitters socking Italian managers?

Or have you forgotten about Lenny Randle vs. Frank Lucchesi? (When the Giants had Randle under contract briefly last year, I wrote of my fear for Joe Altobelli's safety, but Randle stayed in Phoenix until he was traded.)

Are all Italian managers doomed to pay for the sins of Billy Martin? And now that Martin is practically back in town, perhaps the logical progression to this story is that either Joe Wallis or Larry Murray will take a crack at Billy The no-longer Kid when he hits Oakland — or Oakland hits him.

It was the Miracle of Geneva and Moscow streets, Feb. 23.

That was the day the Diamond No. 1 of Crocker-Amazon Park was dedicated to Marino Pieretti, whose exploits and intestinal fortitude have already been well chronicled here and in other publications.

It also was the day on which, according to television weatherman Peter Giddings (why embarrass the station by mentioning IT, as well), the Bay Area would be getting hit by the worst storm in 100 years.

Organizers Dino Restelli and Frank Strazzullo were worried. So were the many city hall and San Francisco Park and Recreation Commission dignitaries who were involved in the presentation. Months of planning were being threatened as was — most importantly — the day of a truly great man, Marino Pieretti.

But came Saturday, Feb. 23, 10 a.m., and the sun was shining and the birds were singing, and Pieretti and his family and the dignitaries and the 500 friends and admirers in the stands had one helluva time.

It was beautiful. It was a miracle. And why not? Marino Pieretti is a miracle.

The plaque over one of the entrances in the grandstands stating that that is Marino Pieretti Field will ensure the miracle for all time, because it signifies that now Marino Pieretti — never mind his illnesses — will live forever.

Every time a kid steps on that field, every time a fan sits in those stands, they will, for all time, be doing it under the aegis of Marino.

Dario Lodigiani, the former big leaguer, former San Francisco Seal, former Oakland Acorn, present Chicago White Sox scout, and a North Beach buddy of Marino's since Chic's childhood, said it best when he told the audience, "Marino Pieretti is the only man I've ever known who put more into baseball than he took out."

San Francisco State recently concluded its winningest basketball season since 1954-55, its first 20-win season (21-6) since the Gators of that year (20-6). This year's Gators were 11-1 in Far Western Conference play, while the Gators of two decades ago were undefeated in 10 games, and, like the current Gators, won the conference championship.

I remember that 1954-55 season well because, as sports editor of the campus newspaper, I assigned myself the job of covering every game.

If you're a nostalgic old Gator, you might remember that Dan Farmer coached that team (current football head coach Vic Rowen was his assistant), and that the principals were Henry Fort, Bob Liebe, Gary Kenny, Bob Brown, Ron Rosenberg, Ernie Browning, Phil Grivant, Dan Caldwell and Bennett Mann.

Fort averaged 18.1 points per game which, I believe, led the FWC. Liebe, at 6-3, was the center and among the league's leading rebounders. He averaged 16.0 a game. In league play, though, Liebe averaged 19.7, Fort 19.5.

The Gators were a running, high scoring (74.6) team for that era, who also played good defense (67.1). Against Chico State, that year, they scored 100 points for the first time in their history, winning 105-92.

In NAIA tournament games, they beat Cal Poly 84-80, but were eliminated by Loyola of L.A., 57-56.

But it had been a glorious year for those Gators, and I hope that it's even more glorious for the current crop.

It's the time of year again for the annual (31st) Mission High School Athletic Alumni Association dinner.

As usual, it's at the Seven Hills Restaurant in San Francisco. As is not usual, the Seven Hills is at a new location, 77 Battery St.

It all happens March 7, with cocktails beginning officially at 7 p.m. and ending officially at 8, after which dinner will be served. Actually, cocktails usually begin at 6 p.m. (in some cases earlier), and stretch to 9 p.m. (in some cases later).

Price of the dinner (sans booze) is $10, including tip and tax.

This year, the 1929 Mission football team will be honored, and Al Nelder, former Mission infielder, former chief of police and now a newly appointed police commissioner, will be master of ceremonies.

If you know of any former Mission athletes who don't know about the dinner, please tell them about it.

LOCAL TAG END:

Richard Rodgers, the Jefferson High all-everything play everywhere football player, has signed a letter of intent for Cal, where he is ticketed as a strong or free safety.

Love's celebrates Grand opening

One of the most significant Grand Openings of a new restaurant concept in the area took place Monday, March 3, at 3 p.m. when LOVE'S Steak and Rib House unveiled its new dining room, with innovations in bar and grill atmosphere, menu and custom designed decor, at TRAVELODGE in South San Francisco (at the South Airport Blvd. turnoff Bayshore Highway). It's the prototype of an entire new approach to quality and service in the specialty restaurant field, with emphasis on steaks, favorite crepe specialties, plus many other selections on a unique menu.

MURRAY LEHR has just added several new gourmet dishes to the luncheon menu at LEHR'S GREENHOUSE in San Francisco. Worth a special mention is the incomparable Duck Salad (delicate roast duckling, chilled and served with a banquet of white grapes, mandarin orange slices and accompanied by Lehr's exclusive "Secret of the Orient" sauce) ... There's only one soup listed separately on the menu at ROMANO'S, an Old World Italian dinner house in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, and it's Minestrone a la Romano. As far as many fanciers of this traditional concoction are concerned, that's all there ever needs to be. It's a meal in itself, or is ordered in combination with salad, pasta or seafood.

Brass Elephant for delightful dining

There's a bit of Colonial "old Injah" awaiting your visit to the exotic BRASS ELEPHANT restaurant and lounge located in the GROSVENOR AIRPORT INN, South San Francisco. In a comfortable setting of wicker furniture, ceiling fans, and lush indoor plants, guests enjoy lunch, dinner or Sunday brunch. Featuring a fabulous 20-foot salad appetizer hors d'oeuvres table with more than 25 tantalizing selections ... You can always count on finding a real old-style full Italian dinner at the LEANING TOWER, a longtime landmark Italian restaurant in South San Francisco. Served seven days a week, complete dinners (from $6.50) include appetizer platter, green salad, minestrone soup or pasta, entrees served with potatoes and vegetables, beverage and dessert ... When you drop by HANA JAPAN, a unique Japanese steak house restaurant in San Mateo, try their great new menu special — Hibachi Lamb and Chicken Dinner for $8.95. The flashing dexterity of co-owners chefs DENNY YOON and AKIO YOSHIDA at the table-top hibachi grill will amaze and amuse you ... RAY PLUNKETT'S TAHOE MARINER hotel and casino at North Lake Tahoe offers facilities for private parties, which are popular for service clubs from the area.

Gust family carry on proud heritage

Sometimes it seems a question of which who came first over on the Coastside, Rockaway Beach or the GUST family. Both have been intertwined for more than four generations — long before this beautiful cove in Pacifica became the populous place it is now. NICK and LORRAINE GUST and son CHUCK, descendants of the founding family, carry on a proud heritage in the operation of a complex which includes three great restaurants — NICK'S, CAPTAIN CHARLES, and THE MOONRAKER — and a large resort motel, THE SEA BREEZE ... Double Margaritas are served for the price of one during "happy hour" at LA PINATA Mexican restaurant in Burlingame. All well drinks are two for the price of one during the special 3 to 6 p.m. hours ... RICHARD TRAINOR, manager of SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S in Redwood City, proudly displays a signed photo of Mitzie Gaynor, who was a dinner guest here during a recent gig at nearby Circle Star Theater ... Enhancing the continental cuisine and polished service at BIAGI'S European restaurant in Redwood City are the sounds of RAINBOW RIDGE, the popular combo playing for dancing Tuesday through Saturday evenings in the cocktail lounge. Owners DAN BIAGI and FRANK FLOOD also feature "happy hour" (4 to 6 p.m.) Mondays through Fridays.

Phil Lehr's for Lenten dining

A best bet for Lenten dining at PHIL LEHR'S Pay-By-Ounce Steakery, on the lower level of the S.F. Hilton Tower, is Phil's exclusive Salmon en Croute. It's fresh salmon topped with a pear marinated in Amaretto almond liqueur, then wrapped in a puff pastry shell and baked to juicy perfection ... One reason why the pastas are always so great at DAL BAFFO European restaurant in downtown Menlo Park is that all the spaghetti, regatoni, cannelloni, linguini, etc., are made from the finest semolina right on the premises fresh every day. Volume exceeded capacity of the original equipment, so owner chef VINCENT LO GRASSO had a much larger pasta-making machine installed recently ... Still being offered in response to popular demand at the famed CYPRESS HOUSE restaurant in Half Moon Bay is the "Bright Lights" Special Dinner for $5.25 on Wednesday and Thursday evenings when you bring in their ad.

Benjamin McKendall of Menlo Park and Al Bergeron of Foster City are first place winners in the Man and Nature Photo Contest sponsored by the Coyote Point Museum Association and the Junior League of San Francisco.

McKendall's slide entitled "Frost Detail" took top prize in the color division. Bergeron's black and white "Line of Shorebirds" placed first in that category.

Second place in black and white went to Betty Pollack of Daly City for "At the Ocean." Second place color went to Linda Geer for her slide depicting a spider inside a cocoon.

Third place black and white went to Jane Ames of Portola Valley for "The Western Hills." Al Bergeron saw his entry "Foster City Dredge" place third in the color category.

In addition to the money winners, the following photographers received Judges' awards for excellence: David Gardner of Burlingame for "Farm House," Helen Jean Weil, also of Burlingame, for "October at Half Moon Bay," "Sandpiper" and "Eucalyptus Blossoms," Gary Falls of San Francisco for "From a Rooftop," Gardner Hemphill, also of San Francisco, for "October Harvest," Bob Jarmasz of San Mateo for "Sea Gull Patterns at the Point," James London of San Mateo for an untitled piece and Janet Lindquist of Belmont for "Spider Web."
